UNCAGED ART

Uncaged Art is an after school art workshop for teens. This program will challenge students in various types of media and will support building student portfolios. Pennsylvania Council on the Arts roster teaching artist Elizabeth Parry Faist will teach students to be inspired by the Everhart's collection to create their own interpreted works of art. Students will experience integrated art history tours of the collection by historian and museum educator, Sarah Sutton.

Pre-registration and pre-payment are required and space is limited. All classes are first come, first served. Member rates are based on Family-Level Membership or higher.
