

Master Gardener Basic Training

Lackawanna County will be offering a Penn State Extension Master Gardener training program beginning March 24.

This 15-week long basic training course is a series of Tuesday evening classes covering the major aspects of home horticulture. Throughout basic training and beyond, Master Gardener Trainees work with Master Gardeners serving the larger community with gardening knowledge and support.

For more information on the Master Gardener Basic Training program, please check-out the following information sessions. Master Gardeners will give an overview presentation followed by a question and answer session and the opportunity to apply for the training.
