

Communications Websites and COVID-19 Resources

PR News Online www.prnewsonline.com contains numerous categories, articles and webinars that pertain to general communications as well as sections such as DAILY CORONAVIRUS UPDATES: Communications, Coverage and PR Best Practices, articles such as Rewriting the Crisis Playbook in the Era of Coronavirus Communications and Tips for Media Relations as Coronavirus Dominates, as well as a listing of links titled RESOURCES: Coronavirus Communications. You also can sign up for their free email which offers regular access to articles and information.

Public Relations Society of America www.prsa.org has many resources and webinars for members and others that are accessible for all, even this Crisis Communications Resources page.

As a reminder, information specifically about COVID-19 is available via:

CCAP

Guidance and other links have now been gathered into a single web page on the CCAP website for your easy reference: <https://www.pacounties.org/Pages/COVID-19-Resources-for-Counties.aspx>. You can also find this information linked under What's New on our homepage. Sections include Educational Resources, Sunshine Act/Right To Know and Elections. Also, Connecting With the Media and Your Audiences and Messaging and Speaking Skills Can Inform, Influence and Motivate.

NACo

The National Association of Counties has also created a resource page for counties including information on what counties across the nation are doing as well analyses of recently approved federal legislation: <https://www.naco.org/resources/coronavirus>.

State Resources

Some state resources include their Department of Health website at <https://www.health.pa.gov/Pages/default.aspx> and a free library of community preparedness and procedures materials to assist in displaying important messaging on COVID-19: <https://pacast.com/m?p=17885>.

Federal Resources

CDC and other information can be found at Coronavirus.gov and USA.gov.

THE VOICE OF PENNSYLVANIA COUNTIES SINCE 1886

